John Hannan, Vestry Clerk.

The votes of Roman Catholics were accepted on all the above purposes, except the first mentioned.

VESTRY ON EASTER MONDAY, April 12th, 1830.

Roman Catholics, in great number, attended this vestry, and tendered their votes against the assessment of any sums for the following purposes; viz. "For the salaries of parish sexton, of the sexton of the chapel of ease, of the organist and bellows-blower, for tuning the organ, and for providing coals and candles." Their votes were rejected on these several purposes.

The organ was erected by the parishioners in the year 1812, from which period up to the present it has been constantly used in the performance of Divine Service, and sums for the payment of organist and bellows-blower's salaries, and for tuning the said organ, annually assessed at the Easter vestry.

VESTRY ON EASTER TUESDAY, April 13th, 1830.

Roman Catholics, in great number, also attended at this vestry. The sum for winding and repairing the church clock was assessed before they arrived. On their assembling in the vestry they objected to the several sums proposed and hitherto annually assessed for the following purposes; viz. "For the support of foundlings, for providing coffins for the poor, for the salary of vestry clerk, and fees for collecting the church rates;" for each of which purposes they moved amendments of 1s. Their votes were received, and the amendments carried, by an overpowering majority, all who voted for the amendments being Roman Catholics.

Clock erected in the parish church in the year 1813, and a sum annually assessed in vestry for winding and keeping it in repair.

Wm. Hallaran, Curate of Youghal,

And Chairman in the absence, through illness, of the Rector.
